A full refund of fees paid will be made to any learner if APA cancels a scheduled online event. This will incur no administrative charges or penalties.

Upon purchasing any online learning module, you have 30 days to use the product to ensure it is accessible. If for technical reasons pertaining to cpd4physios.com.au, the APA module is not operational, you will need to contact the APA within the first 30 days from date of purchase to determine if a full refund will be provided. The APA takes no responsibility for the service of the user's current internet provider. As such the APA will not provide a refund to the user for the inability to access modules, or based on the viewing quality of modules due to the service of the users current internet provider.

If you change your mind after purchasing any module, no refund is provided.

Access Period of Online Modules

Participants who have purchased an online learning module have a 12-month access period from the date of purchase. There are no exceptions to this timeframe and this module will expire in 12 months. In instances where a business owner is purchasing a module for their practice, and wish to continue providing the learning module to their team, they will need to re-purchase the module after 12 months.

Should the APA choose to remove a product from its catalogue, this will not impact your ability to access the module within the 12-month period.

CPD hours are allocated in the form of CPD points, at the completion of the module via the My Learning tab. Participants are encouraged to keep records of their education and any other professional development they complete for auditing requirements.

Certificate of Completion

The APA provides a Certificate of Completion on some modules. The certificate is issued upon completion of viewing the online learning module or completion of the assessment.

Participants are encouraged to download and keep a copy of their certificates.

Upon receiving your completion of some modules, the APA will also make available a feedback survey. The APA strongly encourages you to complete the feedback survey to ensure continue improvement to our online offering.
